Megan K. Arian is an associate at Bird Marella, where she represents clients in complex litigation matters.

Prior to joining Bird Marella, Megan was an associate at Winston Taylor LLP, where she represented clients in a wide range of matters, including securities litigation, insider trading, internal investigations, government enforcement actions, False Claims Act litigation, and privacy class actions. She previously served as a legal intern with the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Central District of California, where she gained experience in federal criminal matters, including white collar crime and public corruption investigations.

While in law school, Megan participated in the Post-Conviction Justice Project, representing individuals serving life sentences in parole proceedings. As a certified law student and student supervisor, she successfully advocated for clients who were granted parole.

Megan also served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Patrick J. Walsh and the Honorable Beverly Reid O'Connell of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California, gaining firsthand insight into federal court proceedings and judicial decision-making.

Megan earned her J.D. from the University of Southern California Gould School of Law, where she served as a staff editor of the Southern California Law Review. She received her B.A., with Honors, in Political Science and a minor in Community Engagement and Social Change from the University of California, Los Angeles.
