Bird Marella partner Michael Landman is recognized in Bloomberg Law's prestigious "They've Got Next: The 40 Under 40" class as one of the exceptional up-and-coming lawyers across the country who set the standard in their respective fields.

Mr. Landman is one of only two nationwide honorees in the White Collar, Investigations, and Crisis Leadership category, commended for his record of success for clients, leadership service, and commitment to pro bono work.

Notably, in 2024, Mr. Landman was part of the trial team that secured the complete acquittal of Stephen Chamberlain, Autonomy's former vice president of finance, in what is regarded as one of the largest fraud prosecutions ever brought by the U.S. Department of Justice.
