The Hollywood Reporter Names John Berlinski to Top 100 Power Lawyers List

The Hollywood Reporter has named principal John Berlinski to its annual Power Lawyers list, recognizing "the 100 most influential attorneys in the entertainment industry."

John is one of Hollywood's most respected litigators, representing high-profile clients in significant and impactful disputes. While most of John's matters are confidential, the THR article notes that he recently settled a multi-year LA Superior Court litigation for client Katie O'Connell Marsh involving the hit Netflix television series Narcos on the eve of trial and that he is currently representing famed actor and public figure Chuck Norris in a dispute with CBS Studios.

This year marks the third time John has been recognized on the prestigious Power Lawyers list.
