

Ariel Neuman and Jen Won Author Article on Self-Disclosure of Criminal Conduct

Principal Ariel Neuman and Associate Jen Won authored an article for the American Bar Association (ABA) entitled, “When and Why to Consider Self-Disclosure of Criminal Conduct.” Published in the winter edition of the ABA Commercial & Business Litigation Articlesletter, the article provides civil litigators with guidance regarding the pros and cons of voluntary disclosure to law enforcement of criminal conduct discovered in the corporate setting, highlighting the procedures corporations should initiate when misconduct is discovered and the factors that go into deciding whether to self-disclose.

Click here to read the full article.