

Bird Marella Celebrates 35th Anniversary

On September 27, Bird Marella celebrated its 35th anniversary with clients and colleagues at the Annenberg Space for Photography in Los Angeles. The 3-hour event included cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, a video montage of firm attorneys in “years past,” and short remarks from principals Terry Bird, Gary Lincenberg, Mark Drooks, and Paul Chan.

Managing principal, Paul Chan added, “We’re extremely gratified to have this opportunity to commemorate the evolution and growth of the firm over its past 35 years. The success of Bird Marella is a testament to our highly talented attorneys, our unique approach to litigating matters, and our multigenerational and collaborative culture, which we believe is unique among law firms. We look forward to continuing to provide unsurpassed legal services and value to our clients, as we look ahead to the next 35 years.”

Based in Los Angeles and established in 1981 by founders Terry Bird, Vincent Marella, Joel Boxer, and Dorothy Wolpert, Bird Marella has handled some of the most important litigation in the western United States, litigating complex civil and white collar criminal matters in state and federal courts across the nation.
