Timothy B. Yoo Explores Legal Challenges for Video Streaming Services as Demand Grows

Principal Timothy B. Yoo authored the Daily Journal article, "Proliferation of Streaming Video Services Could Lead to Increased Regulations and Taxes on OTT Providers." The article discusses the legalities surrounding the prominence of video streaming services such as Netflix and the emergence of new regulatory issues in several states.

As an established specialist on complex technology and intellectual property disputes, Yoo states, "...with the rise of digital content, there are a range of potential new legal issues that come with it, namely, the specter of increased targeted regulation, attempts to extend existing regulations to [streaming] services, or both."
