

Bird Marella Interviewed by Chambers USA Regarding White-Collar Crime & Government Investigations

Bird Marella principals explain what it takes to win against the government and the future of the practice.

In an interview with Chambers USA, Bird Marella principals Gary Lincenberg, Benjamin Gluck, Ariel Neuman, and Nicole Rodriguez Van Dyk introduce the practice of White-Collar Criminal Defense and Government Enforcement Defense. They offer insight into some of the key developments over the prior year, the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, and future litigation trends that are likely to influence the work.

Most importantly, the group discusses what is required to be a successful white-collar criminal defense attorney and win against the government. In their discussion, the attorneys dispel common misconceptions around this complex area of law.

Lincenberg, Gluck, Neuman, and Rodriguez Van Dyk are all ranked by Chambers USA, and the firm is ranked in the highly selective Band 1 group of Litigation: White Collar Crime & Government Investigations.

To read the interview, click here.

To learn about Bird Marella's white-collar criminal defense practice, click here.