Gary Lincenberg and Michael Landman Offer Legal Insight on Navigating Employer Liability After ICE Raids in Daily Journal Article

Partners Gary Lincenberg and Michael Landman authored the Daily Journal article, "Legal Issues for Employers Arising Out of ICE Raids," which outlines the federal and state laws that impact employers and provides practical advice to those facing the possibility of immigration enforcement action at their job sites.

Experts in government enforcement actions, Mr. Lincenberg and Mr. Landman offer legal insight on how employers "must understand their rights under federal law and California's AB 450 to avoid criminal liability and respond appropriately to ICE inspections." They present a thorough list of practical tips, including a step-by-step plan for employers and management after a raid and how to proactively navigate any continued enforcement actions that may affect them and their employees.
