Mitch Kamin Discusses the Intersection Between Traditional Gambling and Social with Casino Enterprise Management

Bird Marella Principal Mitch Kamin was featured in an interview podcast published by Casino Enterprise Management discussing the newest trend in the gaming industry - the intersection of traditional gambling and social gaming.

"This is a trend that has a lot of potential for huge profits, but at the same time can result in legal turmoil for the less cautious," says Mr. Kamin, who advises on the domestic and foreign regulatory oversights that are associated when crossing the line between social gaming and online gambling.

Additionally, Mr. Kamin discusses the types of profit that can be made from businesses looking to converge with developers of these social games, the non-traditional trends that are arising in social gaming and the evolution of local laws to regulate areas.
